

On Existence:

What is 'existence' really? It's the knowledge that others may 'view' you in their perceived reality. 'Viewing' may not always be seeing though. A blind person knows you're there because you make sounds, and talk.

On Reality:

Reality is the electrical impulses received from your five senses, interpreted by your brain, to give you a sense of space! It is possible to simulate reality in a Matrix-style, by bypassing the signals received from the five senses, and inserting fake/custom ones. All of a sudden, the person, sees, hears, feels, smells, and tastes a completely different reality.
